Emerald Ash Borer has Recently Been Discovered in Omaha

Citizens may become aware through various media outlets that the presence of Emerald Ash Borer has been confirmed in Omaha, Nebraska. Officials from Federal, State and Local agencies do not recommend treatment until the invasive pest has been confirmed within 15 miles of their Ash Trees. Interim recommendations include proactive removal of Ash Trees in marginal or poor condition, and identification of likely candidates for treatment that are medium size, in good condition, and in priority locations.
